Azienda Agricola Giovanna Madonia

Giovanna Madonia (Eigenaar)

The Property extends over 14 hectares on the top of the hill of Montemaggio in Bertinoro, the heart of Romagna Wine District. In 1992, following meticulous studies and clone selection, we renovated our vineyards and planted the new vines at an altitude around 300/350 m, trained in "Alberello" (Bush) System. All the plants benefit from an optimal southwest exposure and the yields are kept at minimum for the best fruit quality. In this place, our grapevines have found enviable climate and calcareous soil, intermingled with olive groves and wild forest, whose scent is blended with the pleasant breeze coming from the Sea, only five miles away. We produce 60,000 bottles a year, mostly from autochthonous grapes like Sangiovese and Albana. Our wines received international awards like Tre Bicchieri Gambero Rosso, the Espresso and Slow Food Guide Awards and Price Pleasure awards.

Tenuta Casali

Silvia Casali (Eigenaar)

Ancients origins and contemporary taste. Romagna's wines were born of local grapes with a long history, able to give the wines a rich personality and character: Sangiovese and Albana (the first white wine to receive the Docg in Italy in 1987), Trebbiano and Famoso. And there is also Cabernet Sauvignon, the international wine varietal that adapted itself perfectly in our lands. The love and respect for our terroir and nature with its periods, together with a constant research for using the best technologies for every single grape variety and wine, are the most important ingredients for Tenuta Casali's wines. The farm – founded in 1978 thanks to Valerio and Paolo who followed in the footsteps of their grandfather who started a winery back in the 1940's in the Mercato Saraceno's hills - is today a family-run business with 20 hectares of vineyards, planted on underlying layer of gravel of an old fluvial terracin. The area benefits of strong temperature ranges between day and night which give an intensity of smells and tastes to its wines. Vinification and aging processes are followed in our own wine cellar, with its photovoltaic system.

Poderi Morini

Alessandro Morini (Eigenaar)

The fertile soil of Poderi Morini lies on a rocky hillside and enjoys a ideal microclimate benefiting both from the Adriatic breeze and the winds coming from the Apennine between Tuscany and Romagna. These special conditions are the starting point for an important phase of this quality project. We believe that being a wine producer means making some important choices right from the beginning: focusing always and at any cost on quality; maintaining an emphasis on local indigenous varieties; rely on highly qualified co-workers; and support production through the most recent technology.
